New book leads to romance and murder

What happens when the guy who could fulfill your dreams is your main suspect in a murder? In “Under a Desert Sky,” a new book by Loren Lockner, a police detective in Palm Springs is assigned a homicide case dealing with the murder of a young Hispanic housekeeper.

Immediately the finger points at the housekeeper’s jealous boyfriend, making the case seem simple. But things change when it turns out the victim posed for photos in a lurid magazine and that her main employer was having financial difficulties. Little does the detective know, the evidence will lead her to the man of her dreams – who also happens to be the main suspect.

Lockner has been writing romantic intrigues and mysteries for years. Born and raised in Southern California, she is currently working on a mystery novel based in the Big Valley. She is married and has two teenaged children.

“Under a Desert Sky” is available in softcover (ISBN 1-58939-890-4) from Virtualbookworm.com, Amazon.com and Barnes and Noble.com. The book can also be ordered from most bookstores around the United States and the United Kingdom. More information can be found at the book’s official website, www.lorenlocknerbooks.com.
